Jake McPartlin

Academic Advisor,
Academic Advising Center

Jake was born and raised in the Downriver suburbs of Detroit, Michigan. In May of 2016, he started his career with the University of Utah in the Office of the Registrar. He moved to the AAC in October of 2017. Jake earned his undergraduate degree from Central Michigan University (CMU). He majored in Broadcast and Cinematic Arts and double minored in Business Administration and Multimedia Design. Jake's interest in a career in Academic Advising began while studying at CMU, where he worked as a student assistant to an Academic Advisor. In that role, he saw the impact that advisors can have on students' academic and professional careers. The care and passion the advisor gave to her students was inspirational to Jake, leading him toward a career in Student and Academic Affairs.

Jake has filled various roles in admissions, residence life, academic advising, international student services, outdoor recreation leadership, and team-building programs at CMU and the University of Michigan-Dearborn.
